

Abstract

[Problem]

An agent for treating eye and mouth dryness, which does not accompanies undesirable actions is provided.

5 [Means for Resolution]

Administration of the compound A made it possible to accelerate tear and salivary fluid secretion without accompanying sweating and its sustained release administration enabled acceleration of lacrimal gland and 10 salivary gland cell growth as well.